Height is negotiable on most ads. We are currently not placing text ads, though exceptions can be made under certain circumstances by emailing to robert@freefromharm.org.

Where to Place Your Ads?

Web users enter our site most often through the home page and post news pages. In addition, there are other parked pages that have high traffic volume. Let us know what you are advertising and we can help you determine the best placement for your ads to ensure maximum relevance and visibility to your specific audience.

What Are the Ad Rates?

At this time, advertising rates are negotiable and determined on CPM (cost per mille or cost per 1,000 impressions) and click throughs. We will work up a custom quote for you after evaluating the best advertising scenario for you.

The screenshot shows the Free From Harm website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with links for Home, Get Answers, Watch Video, Browse Links, and Take Action. The main article is titled "The Meat of the Issue: Normal, Natural and Necessary?" and includes social media sharing options and a print button. The article text discusses the reasons for eating meat and the concept of the "circle of life." The sidebar on the right contains several article teasers, including "Faith Terwilliger: A Cancer Survivor Turned Plant Based Nutrition Coach" and "Legal Action Taken Against Santa Cruz Chicken Hatchery Based on 2010 Animal Abuse Investigation." Red boxes and numbers are overlaid on the page to indicate the locations of different ad formats: 1 (top banner), 2 (in-story floating ad), 3 (in-story banner ad at the bottom), 4 (sidebar ad), and 5 (sidebar square button ad).
